MBA application planner

A twelve-month plan from test prep to interviews, with a tracker for every school on your list.

Your twelve months

1. 12 to 9 months out
   Pick GMAT or GRE, take a diagnostic test and book a test date. Start a list of moments from work that changed how you think.
2. 9 to 6 months out
   Shortlist schools. Speak to current students and alumni. Draft your resume for an admissions reader, not a recruiter.
3. 6 to 3 months out
   Settle your career goal and your story. Brief your recommenders. Write first drafts of every essay.
4. 3 months to deadline
   Edit for clarity and length. Check every form field. Submit a few days early, not on the last night.
5. After you submit
   Prepare for interviews: your story in two minutes, why this school, and three examples of leadership.

School tracker

School	Round	Deadline	Essays	Status

Recommenders

- [ ] Chosen people who have seen your work closely, not the most senior names
- [ ] Asked at least two months before the deadline
- [ ] Shared your resume, your goal and three stories they could mention
- [ ] Sent each school's link and deadline in one message
- [ ] Followed up two weeks before the deadline
- [ ] Thanked them, and told them where you got in

> Before you rely on dates
> Deadlines and essay questions change every year. Check each school's admissions page and copy the dates into the tracker yourself.
